This week's Classroom news:

Warblers have been creating crystals in class. Very sparkly!

Sandmartins have been really enjoying the Ancient Egyptians topic and have been designing crocodiles (that lurk in the River Nile). They have been learning their "Adventure in Egypt" narrative in Talk for Writing, creating timelines to show many important historical events including the birth of King Tut and are practising telling the time using analogue clocks. Their class book is "Fing" by David Walliams and they are really enjoying story time every day keeping track of the rather naughty Myrtle Meek!

Doves have been learning about measurements and making cheese biscuits!

Year 4 had a visitor do a workshop about African Drumming last week, they thoroughly enjoyed their workshop and performing for their parents at the end of the day.
