Draw a labelled diagram of a flower, showing its reproductive parts.	Write a letter to a pretend problem page about a friendship issue or about puberty, and then write a reply giving advice to help them.	Read another book by Louis Sachar (who wrote 'There's a boy in the girls' bathroom') and write a book review.
Make a time line of your life so far, showing how things have changed for you. It might show things you have learnt to do or things that have happened.	Draw a character from There's a boy in the girls' bathroom'. Around the edge write everything you know about that character.	Make a power point or poster about the ways different animals attract a mate (eg peacock showing its feathers)
Measure everyone in your household. Record their heights in a table then use the information to draw a graph. You can include pets if you wish!	Research and build a working model of the digestive system. You will find ideas on the internet!	Research the lifecycle of an animal (insect, mammal or…?) and present it in an interesting way.
Write a diary entry in role as Bradley from 'There's a boy in the girls' bathroom'. Show how he is feeling and what has happened that day.	Use a book or computer to find a picture of a flower and do a carefully observed drawing of it, using pencil, paint or any other medium.	Find a flower on the ground and carefully take it apart to try to find its reproductive parts.

Year 5 Home Learning – Change

This term your home learning tasks are based on our Term 6 focus which is Change. You need to complete enough activities to gain a minimum of 10 points.

If you are able to complete enough activities to gain 20 points you will receive a certificate.

1   point

2 points

3 points

Here are some ideas for how you could present your work in your home learning scrap book:

- Leaflet
- Powerpoint
- Poster
- Model

Remember to take care with each piece of work. This scrap book is going to show case your fantastic home learning.

Your home learning is due on 19.6 19If you want to hand some of it in before this date, please do!